

CITIZEN CULLINGS AND COMMENT.

Rabbits are plentiful in the country.

So much rain is not beneficial to the cotton remaining in the fields.

Put your house in order about the 4th of March, the race's will have to go.

The Birmingham Age-Herald is one of the ablest edited dailies in the south.

Look to THE CITIZEN columns to find out where to buy your Christmas goods.

The newly elected representatives are being deluged with letters from parties who want state offices.

The Graphic calls him the late a double A. Hewitt and laments that he ever was.

No democrat has a right to blame Cleveland for what others did for him.

The party in power ought to have the control and responsibility of the government.

Mr. Henry Grady is in the race for United States senator from Georgia against Senator Colquitt.

Agriculture, literature, news and religion, with little politics, will be the makeup of THE CITIZEN here after.

The American claims to be protectionist with a big P, in the matter of Englishmen marrying so many pretty American girls.

Speaking of the recent election the Obion Commercial says: "We met the enemy, but the son of a gun was loaded."

The republicans have got the country and gone. We can only wait to see where the d— they will carry it to.

Hon. Jefferson Davis, on account of feeble health, will be unable to accept the invitation to attend the Richmond exposition.

The report of the general Treasurer of the Knights of Labor shows the order to have decreased about 300,000 during the past year.

It is said that as soon as the yellow fever excitement is all over at Decatur work will commence on the Decatur & Cheapeake railroad.

Ninety of the leading cotton firms of Memphis have estimated the cotton crop of 1888-9, the average report being 6,654,888 bales.

Only the official returns can decide the political complexion of next House. If democratic claims are correct they will have one majority; if the republicans are right they will have three.

The Birmingham Age-Herald thinks Cleveland made a grave mistake in his tariff message, but with all this he will go down into history as one of the best Presidents the country has ever had.

What's the matter with old "Hutch," the wheat boomer of Chicago for commissioner of agriculture? There may be some snarl on him but he is all right.

We tender our deepest sympathy to our friend Col. W. R. French in his great financial loss by the burning of his mills recently in Tallahassee. Such men desire better luck.

It is intimated by his friends that Mr. Blaine is physically broken down and will not seek a place in the cabinet. Of course the world is in his grasp if he desires it.

There isn't the slightest proof that Gov. Hill was in the least treacherous to Cleveland. He was loyal and faithful to the president and Mr. Cleveland does not doubt it.

Soil or shininess on a coat collar or sleeves may be removed by sponging them off once or twice a week with the following preparation: One ounce of alcohol, one of ether, one quart of water.

Boots used for hunting and fishing may be made water tight by rubbing them with a mixture composed of four ounces of lard and one of resin; both boot and mixture must be warm.

A meerschaum pipe may be cleaned by using cold coffee. Let it stand in the bowl for a shot, or draw it back and forth through the stem once or twice.

A dish of whitening should be kept by every house keeper. It makes nickel shine like silver and removes grease and dirt from paint without injuring it.

Never sun feather beds. Air them thoroughly on a windy day in a cool place. The sun draws the oil and gives the feathers a rancid smell.

It is estimated that there are 3,000,000 men in America who get shaved three times a week. That means an expenditure of 30 cents a week, or $15.00 a year for each man, or for the 3,000,000, $15,000,000 annually.

Miss Nellie Gould, the daughter of Jay Gould, is probably the richest heiress in America. It is doubtful if any living woman has as good opportunities to accomplish something in life as she has.

The democrats carried West Virginia for the national ticket by not less than a thousand majority; elected the Governor, three, if not four, Congressmen, and the Legislature by three or four majority on joint ballot.

Three bodies were recovered from the ruins of Bryant's European Hotel, burned at Chattanooga last week. These were Eula Jones, a white chambermaid, Maj. Bigler, of Atlanta, and Thomas Moore, of Birmingham, Ill., the two latter being guests.

Another safe and sure cure for corns is reported to have been found in a poultice formed of stale bread soaked in strong vinegar. It should be applied at night, on retiring. In the morning the soreness will be gone, and the corn can be picked out. Obsolete corns may require two or more applications.

Tennessee's Senator.

The Age Herald does not care to be understood as meddling with Tennessee politics, but it occurs to us that in the warm and exciting contest between Senator Harris and the Legislature for the United States Senate, that the Legislature of Tennessee might well consider the merits of her distinguished citizen, Ex-Gov. John C. Brown. Gov. Brown has been a loyal and true friend to Tennessee, both in times of peace and war, and to-day is well known throughout all the Southern states as a broad-gauged, intellectual and upright man. Since his retirement from the office of Governor of Tennessee, he has in various capacities been connected with the great railway systems of the South. He can in no sense be called a weakling, either as an ally or as a corporation absorbing the wealth of the country and inimical to the interests of the people. On the contrary, Gov. Brown has given his best energies to the development of the resources of the South, and thus has been instrumental in adding greatly to its wealth and population. So that the fact of his being a railroad man is to his credit and should not prejudice the people against him.

That Gov. Brown is a man of great financial and business ability is evinced by the confidence reposed in him by capitalists and his necessary promotion to high official positions. In the Senate of the United States Gov. Brown would be a conspicuous figure. No man in the State of Tennessee would fill the position with more dignity or ability.

Harris and Atkins are both good men and either would make an excellent Senator, but if the contest develops the fact that neither can be elected, why not elect John C. Brown?—Age Herald.

Oregon Mills.
The Oregon Commercial last week said that a cotton mill would pay in Pulaski. The question may arise in some minds. How would it pay? The Fayetteville Star answers this question for us.

As one of the first results more money would be spent and put in circulation amongst us, which is certainly most desirable. Idle hands and those accepting any sort of cheap work could be employed in something regular and profitable. The advantage to the manufacturer would be the cheap labor, and the advantage to the laborer would be regular work at living prices.

The farmer would get the market price for his cotton, making his regular agricultural profit; and he would have a market and ready sale for his hogs, and other products depending on them for a living, and this would form his second profit and as a final result, instead of shipping raw material for somebody else to work up, thus furnishing means for the support of persons at a distance, the manufacturer would be the cheap labor, and the advantage to the laborer would be regular work at living prices.

Now, with these advantages in favor of cotton mills, can not the necessary capital be found to invest in such an enterprise? We trust it will be found at once and speedily used.

From New York to London by Rail.

People will, instead of risking the dangers of an Atlantic trip and the horrors of mal de mer, as well as for the purpose of saving time, leave New York for London via St. Petersburg and the Ural mountains, one terminating at Orenburg and the other at Ekaterinburg, and the car has lately approved of a plan to build a railway continuing from the Ural mountains to the Pacific ocean, a distance of about 7000 miles, including the 1500 miles already constructed from St. Petersburg to the Ural. This road will have its eastern terminus at Vladivostok, which is situated at the farthest southern extremity of the Russian territory lying on the Pacific coast, on that side. This of itself, will most shorten the trip from St. Petersburg to American Pacific coast ports, superintending it will, a line of commerce from St. Petersburg to the Ural mountains, a much narrower portion of the Pacific ocean than that of the course of the steamers now plying between Vancouver and Yokohama.

But in a little time, comparatively, the route will be all rail from St. Petersburg to New York. The generation now growing up will make the trip—Portland Oregonian.

Wood Out the Scrubs.

The great growth of all sorts of forage crops the present season at large dairy farmers an opportunity to dispose of their herd at a fair price, and have a goodly sum to purchase something in their place that will more than pay for their keep. Well fattened beef cattle are bringing good figures now, and will likely continue to do so the balance of the season.

Let the farmer cull out the poor milkers and utilize his good crop of hay and corn, turn them into beef, remembering the old adage, "a fat farm will tiller," applies as well to the dairy. A less number of cattle takes less care, less feed, less room and provided they all pay a profit, give a better return for the investment than a large herd of poor animals. If farmers will see how much better it pays to keep cows that give returns of $50 to $80 per cow, than $20 to $30.

Even the poor, despised scrub with a good, warm stable and a ration of grain at least once a day the year around, will respond to treatment and make good returns for the extra care and feed. It is only by a continual process of selecting the best that the ordinary farmer can hope to raise the quality of his herd. The time to do this work is now; make a beginning and see how much easier it is to have ten cows yield five hundred dollars a year than twenty five.

Miss Nellie Gould. The daughter of Jay Gould, is probably the richest heiress in America. It is doubtful if any living woman has as good opportunities to accomplish something in life as she has.

Now For Home Enterprise.

The election is once more over, thank the saints for it. Tennessee politics, the worry and turmoil and hope and despair attendant on a presidential campaign is brushed to rest for another brief period of years. All too brief in our estimation, for the country should not be plunged into such a terrific and business stagnation excitement often than once in six years.

And now that the election is really through with, no time should be lost in settling down to the steady routine of business. How to increase the prosperity of our town and country is the next thing in order. With that comes the encouragement of such reforms and enterprises as will be of benefit to the community. Money which is in the hands of men who hoard it away and allow it to stagnate with themselves is of little or no advantage to a place or its inhabitants. It requires to be capitalized, and thus become a factor in production, ere it commences to bless its abiding place. And what better monument can a man leave behind him, than a well established business, or a persistently encouraged improvement.

Besides private enterprise, there is abundance of room for public effort. Increased facilities for the transportation of our products and manufactures and a consequent reduction of freight charges is a coming matter of importance.

Hints For Home-

If you have any shares of non-dividend paying stock, now is the time to sell out and invest the proceeds in a ton or two of canal coal.

Do not snarl or snuffle any more than necessary. Wait until the red pepper in your tail clothes has had a chance to blow away.

It might be well, in view of the approaching cold spell, to have that pane of glass you smashed with a baseball on the Fourth of July replaced.

Your husband's discarded wife beaver is a very good article in which to store the little packages of camphor you have just removed from your furs.

Never leave the baby in your husband's arms. He is a slave. Western courts hold that to have to walk the floor with an infant in one's arms and with one's face half covered with lather constitutes a good cause for divorce.

A comfortable costume for house wear about this time is known as the "pot-pourri." It is last winter's trousers, last summer's vest and a pea jacket. It is not exactly elegant, but it serves its purpose quite as well as a new suit for the present.

If you entertain largely insist that your guests smoke the cigars that you provide. You will then at least have the satisfaction of knowing what it is that sends your porters scurrying to leave your hall in the redolent state that is so delightful reminiscent of the club.

Democrats and the Tariff.

The Democratic party has been killed several times, but somehow or other it makes wonderful resurrections. When it was beaten by William Henry Harrison in 1840 the cry was that the tariff question had stood up and elected Polk on the Texas and tariff issue. In 1848 the party was once more declared surely dead. The tariff had done it again and Zachary Taylor was chosen President, yet in 1852 the Democrats put Franklin Pierce in the White House and followed up its success by electing James Buchanan. It lost the country on the sectional issues of 1860. It won in 1864 and now we are again assured that the tariff discussion has buried it forever. But the Democracy is a long lived party and in 1892 history may repeat itself and the control of the Government pass once more into its hands.—N. Y. Graphic.

The Goose Bone.

The forshadowing of the approaching winter, as it is read from the dots and lines on the goose bone, is not a cheerful story. The prospect of a long winter of snow and cold, is a gloomy picture for the poor to look upon, and the many whose short purse will not permit them to lay in a bountiful supply of fuel, will shiver at the thought of the kind of weather that little bone foretells for the next four months. There will be more cold and wet weather than the people of this latitude have experienced for many a winter, and the cold spells will be longer and more severe than usual. The bone is dark at both ends, which indicates a long winter. In winter weather we will have in November, and the ice and snow will be familiar sights far along into March.

Judge Thurman was 75 years old last Thursday. We hope he may be spared many more years of vigorous life for his country's sake.

The National Review announced on the 2nd inst. (before the election) that "In January next Hon. S. W. Hawkins will succeed Gen. Laps McCord as Governor, who has been filling the vacancy since the expiration of Gov. Bates' term." But it would seem that Gen. Laps D. McCord has no less in the governor's office and that Hon. S. W. Hawkins will not take possession for a while yet.

Mr. W. R. French of Tallahassee, though retaining a great loss himself by the burning of his woolen mills, has directed his bookkeeper to pay up his employees, cash in full, and that so rents be collected from those who occupy his cottages until they secure new employment. This is an exhibition of generosity and charity not often seen and is commendable. Mr. French is every kind a gentleman.

Bugine Bloc of Paris, 14 years old, apparently didn't take enough exercise, for he fell in love with a plaster cast of Venus in his father's house and would stand gazing at it for hours. He neglected his studies, and his father got angry and smashed it. Thereupon Bugine went up to his room, twisted a sheet around his neck and strangled himself to death.

For Your Consideration.

Our legislators have been elected all over the state. We desire to present to them for their consideration and consideration for the legislature and the meeting of the legislature the following suggestions from the Marfreesboro News: There will be many things for the coming legislature to do, or at least ought to do. The assessment law, good as it is, will require an amendment or so. The state prison must be moved from Nashville to some better point. Our lottery laws must be amended so that mere boys and girls shall not be sent to the state prison, and to prevent this a house of reform must be established. We must have a registration of votes in all towns of 1000 or more inhabitants. The laws must be made more stringent in regard to illegal voting. A law must be passed to prevent pushing and crowding at the ballot box on election day. Not less than two voters should be allowed to approach the box at the same time. Our road laws need several changes or amendments. They are too cumbersome as they are. Our divorce laws should be amended. It is entirely too easy to secure a divorce in Tennessee. These and many other things ought to challenge the attention of every member of the legislature.

Rumors of a change in the cabinet have been circulated for some time. We are warranted in saying these changes will take place about the 4th of March.

A North Carolina justice of the peace thought he was entitled to a cent of court in not bringing out a pair of water for the justice's horse while he was traveling.

It were not for the negro the solid South might be broken, but so long as colored men insist on drawing the color line, just so long will the whites of this section vote the democratic ticket. There are thousands of white men in this section who would not object to seeing the solid South broken, but who cannot stomach the negro.—N. Y. Graphic.

Resign! Resign!

To all democratic federal office holders—let there be civil service reform. The people have voted you out, and your legislative bodies ought to be in President Harrison's hands on the 5th of next March, to take effect as soon as the gentleman shall be able to fill the consequent vacant positions satisfactorily to him; the republican party and the service. No democrat was given office during the term of Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Garfield and Arthur. No democrat has a right to federal office now. To the victors belong the spoils. Every wumpus office holder ought to resign too, but that is rather too much to expect. Resign! Get out! That is the voice of the majority, and four years for democratic officeholding has been voted four years too much.—N. Y. Graphic.

It seems hard that Cleveland, although he received a majority of from 55,000 to 60,000 of the popular vote, should be defeated under the present electoral college system.
